ADAM'S HOUSE IN PARADISE

Lower East Side, New York City

September 13 — October 7 Tues — Sun: 11-7 PM Reception: Sept. 13, 6-9 PM

In a town of square pegs, New York, there is a round clearing called The Garden of Eden, an oasis in the rubble of the Lower East Side. Built on abandoned property over the last 10 years by Adam Purple, this public art now faces demolition due to the proposed construction of a N.Y.C. Housing Authority project. The following architects exhibit alternative housing designs that preserve The Garden of Eden.
